

Best Accommodation in Wales!

Leading North Wales accommodation provider, Plas Dinas Country House, in Bontnewydd, Caernarfon is proud to announce that it has just been awarded a prestigious Gold Award by Visit Wales, the Welsh tourist board for 2012. This categorises them among the best of the best accommodation across Wales.

Owners, Andy and Julian Banner-Price, who took part in Channel Four's popular prime time show "Four in a Bed" earlier in the year said they were delighted to receive such a high accolade. Andy said "2011 has been a great year for us and we're really looking forward to developing the business further next year."

Having hosted a lunch for HRH Prince William earlier in the year and stars such as Alan Carr coming to stay, they've proved that Plas Dinas has a well earned reputation as one of the best places to stay in the area.

The Gold Award is given to those extra special places who offer "outstanding quality, exceptional comfort and hospitality" following a series of mystery visits and assessments by independent inspectors. Visit Wales annually check and grade accommodation all over Wales and Plas Dinas were awarded the top five star grade again this year.

Julian commented "We never stop trying to improve on the product and service we offer and we hope that our repeat guests always notice something new each time they visit".

Andy added "We would like to thank not only our committed and hard working staff but also all our great local suppliers who help our guests experience a true taste of Wales and add to the quality experience with their excellent products.
